

Singin' the Color Blues

Before you sing this song with the children, talk through the lyrics, allowing them to figure out what colors they are wearing.

Practice the motions in the chorus (shake hands, clap hands in rhythm as lyrics indicate). I repeated the verses, giving younger children a change to repeat the directions.

For younger children who are just learning their colors, you may also want to have pieces of colored paper on a board to point to as you sing the names of the colors at the end of the chorus. This is also great practice for children learning English (ESL).

Singin' the Color Blues

If you're wearing blue, put your hands down on your shoes
If you're wearing red, give yourself a little pat on the head
If you're wearing yellow, can you wiggle like a bowl full of Jello

If you're wearing pink give your eyes a little blink, blink, blink If you're wearing white, put your head down and say Goodnight!
("Goodnight")
If you're wearing black, can you give yourself a big pat on the back

We're singing the colors, shaking to the colors, clapping to the Color Blues Singin' and sharing all the colors you're wearing from your head down to your shoes Red, green, blue, yellow, orange, purple too
 We're singin' the Color Blues
